

GALA DAY SATURDAY FOR CLARK AND ULSTER BOYS

City to Be Doubly Honored by Presence of Foremost Congressman and Homecoming Ulster Sons—Let Them See Our Colors—Program, Subject to Change If Rainy.

Tickets for the banquet of the Ulster County Association Saturday evening at the Stuyvesant must be secured, today of either Chairman C. V. A. Decker or David Burgevin, treasurer of the resident members committee. There cannot be seating capacity for more than the actual members of the association. To put tickets on sale at a public place would bring on unpleasant complications for there would be the chance of actual members being crowded out.

A moving picture outfit is coming up from New York with the New York visitors and scenes along the way, incidents occurring during the entertainment will be taken for a screen record of this historic affair which many Kingston business men are anticipating with great expectations.

The resident committee have received acceptances of invitations extended to out of town members of the association who are sure to be present from the following out of town men:

JACOB FORST DEAD AT HIS RESIDENCE

One of the Best Known Men in Ulster County Died at an Early Hour After Long Illness—Funeral Sunday Afternoon.

Jacob Forst, one of the best known men in Ulster county, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning at his residence, No. 26 Abell street, in his 64th year, after a long illness. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from his late residence at 2 o'clock with interment in Willow cemetery.

Mr. Forst came to this country from Germany at the age of 16 years and settled in this city, where he has resided ever since. He was one of the best known men in the Hudson river valley and at the age of 25 years his ability was recognized by Philip Armour and he was given the exclusive agency for Armour & Company in this city and vicinity. He was with Armour & Company until 1902 when he signed and built his own abattoir on Abell street, where with his sons, he has supplied Kingston and the surrounding territory with meat.

Mr. Forst always took an active interest in civic matters and held public office at various times. He served the city efficiently as an alms commissioner, and was alderman of the old Sixth ward at one time. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Kingston Lodge of Elks, as well as other fraternal organizations.

He was a man of deep charitable disposition and many were the acts of kindness and charity performed by him during the many years he was a resident of this city. Greed or domination made no difference with him when convinced that those who sought his assistance were worthy of aid.

In his chosen line of work, that of a wholesaler in meats, he was unexcelled and he built up a big and substantial business through fair dealing in all his business relations. His death, while expected, came as a sudden shock to his host of friends, both business and social, and he will be greatly missed by the city at large.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jacobina Forst, and four sons, Leon Forst, who is a practicing attorney in New York city; Max Forst, who was connected with his father in the meat business, and two sons who are in the service. Bernard in the navy and Henry in the army, and one daughter, Mrs. Sophie, wife of L. S. Davis of New York city.

Members of the board of directors of the Catskill T. M. C. A. have decided it would prove unprofitable to keep the building open during the winter and it was closed on Tuesday. The resignation of Secretary Joseph C. Sayers was read at the meeting and accepted with regret.

Chickell "A" Closed.

James Sweeney has purchased the Jordan homestead on Chester street through the real estate agency of W. F. Abernethy, Wall street, city.

Appropriate Exercises as P. O. S. A. Makes Presentation.

A handsome American flag was presented to Public School No. 5, Wynkoop Place, this morning by the Patriotic Order Sons of America, Washington Camp No. 2, and an appropriate program was rendered by the pupils of the school.

The presentation took place at the assembly exercises at the school this morning. A committee from the P. O. S. of A., consisting of Chairman E. J. Nichols of the flag committee, President Joseph Myers, and W. C. Coutant and F. C. Merritt, were present. Superintendent of Schools M. J. Michael was also present.

Patriotic songs and recitations were given by the pupils of the school which were heartily applauded and then Principal Andrew Lang introduced Comrade Nicholas, a veteran of the Civil War and a member of the G. A. R., who in a rousing address, pictured the glorious annals of our national history and presented the flag to the school in behalf of the P. O. S. of A.

Principal Lang in receiving the flag thanked the organization for the interest it had taken in the matter and for the flag which would be hung in the assembly room where patriotic exercises were held every morning at the opening of school.

School No. 5, which was gutted by fire of incendiary origin has been rebuilt and is a credit to the school system of the city. It has 440 pupils registered at the present time.

PAPERS FORBIDDEN TO EXTEND CREDIT

Subscribers Who Receive Papers by Carrier Must Pay Cash, as War Industries Board Forbids Credit Being Given to Them.

Under the newspaper-saving rules of the War Industries Board newspapers must not only limit the size but cannot extend credit to subscribers, regardless of this practice in the past.

Thomas E. Donnelly, chief of the War Industries Board, under date of September 16th, 1918, writes: "The purpose of this rule is to prevent newspapers from supplying their subscribers in their home city by carrier making collections periodically at intervals of not less than once per month, it is still permissible for them to continue this custom. You will note, however, that this applied only to circulation in the city proper where the paper is published, and is the only exception to the rule that subscriptions must be paid in advance."

FURTHER GAINS MADE IN PICARDY AND BALKANS

British and French Slowly Outflanking St. Quentin and Cambrai—Americans Have Metz Under Bombardment—Bulgar Retreat is Now a Rout.

Desperate resistance is being made by the Germans on the Picardy battle front and farther south, but in spite of this both the British and French have made more important gains during the past 24 hours in the great flanking movement against St. Quentin and Cambrai.

The British advanced a mile, taking Moenvres (seven miles west of Cambrai), while slightly south of this zone they have fought their way back into the old defensive positions, they held prior to the German drive last March. A fortified farm was taken by the British northwest of St. Quentin.

The French have captured Esign-le-Grand, on the Chauny-St. Quentin road, and have extended their gains north of the Aisne river. Between the Alliette and Aisne rivers, where the French have been advancing steadily in their "pincer movement," against the Chemin-des-Dames, the Germans delivered five counter assaults, but all of them were beaten off, and the Hunns were flung back, leaving the field covered with wrecks of their dead and wounded.

On the Vesle river, where Americans are on the firing line, the Germans attempted to force their way across the stream at Jonchery, but were hurled back.

Two attacks were attempted by the Germans and Austrians against American positions west and south-west of Metz last night and today, but both were smashed by the vicious barrages of artillery fire put down by the American guns.

There is strong patrol activity on the Meuse-Moselle front where the Americans are driving in the direction of Metz.

American artillery is extremely busy in that sector keeping the German lines of communication and Metz under a devastating fire.

On the Balkan front where the Allies are bluing deep into the Bulgarian front in southern Serbia, the advance now extends over twenty miles and the French and Serbs are within nine miles of Priep. The Bulgarians were attacked over a front of about eighty miles and were completely routed. The Bulgarian retreat was carried out in the mountains with the greatest disorder.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The Bulgarian defeat in the Balkans is developing into a staggering rout, according to advices from Salonika today.

The Allied line in southern Serbia is now only nine miles from Priep. (Priep is thirty miles inside the Serbian border.)

The total advance of the Allied force in Macedonia is now about 20 miles.

Paris, Sept. 20.—The evacuation of the high ground north of the Aisne river, known as the Chemin-des-Dames, by the Germans is believed today to be imminent as a result of the remorseless pressure of General Magin's army.

The German press has already paved the way for acknowledgment of another retreat in that zone by laying stress on the statement that the Chemin-des-Dames is not part of the Siegfried or Hindenburg line.

The Germans counter attacked west of Juicy (on the Aisne front), but were completely repulsed.

Despite stubborn resistance the French have made further progress in the Franco-British "pincer drive" on St. Quentin.

STANDARDIZE MILK PRODUCTION COST

The Dairymen's League Directors meeting in Syracuse September 12th and 13th passed several resolutions of the greatest importance to everyone connected with the dairy business.

The most important act of the directors was the adoption of the Warren formula for finding cost of production of milk. This method of determining costs already has the approval of the United States food administration. Space will not permit anything but a brief explanation of this formula here. The principle of the formula is that on the average it takes the following factors to produce a hundred pounds of milk: 3.8 percent; 33.79 lbs. pound of grain, 43.3 lbs. of hay, 10.8 lbs. of other dry forage, 102.5 lbs. of silage and other succulent feed, 3.02 hours of labor and 25 percent of the cost of the above factors for miscellaneous factors such as pasture, depreciation, etc.

If the market values of each of the above factors are obtained, the sum will be the average cost of production of 3.8% milk. But, of course, it costs more to produce milk in some months than it does in others. To care for this variation and to find the cost of production for any particular month, the average monthly price as obtained above must be multiplied by a percentage factor which has been worked out as correct to give the proper variation for each month. This factor will be more than a 100% in winter and less in summer. For instance, suppose the average monthly cost for producing milk is found to be $2.80 per hundred (this figure, of course, is not correct, but is only given as an example). To find the price for November when milk is high the average yearly price, $2.80, would be multiplied by 119% which is the percentage variation factor for November, and to find the price for June $2.80, the average price would be multiplied by 70.6% which is the percentage variation factor for June. The directors did not actually determine the October cost of production, but left it to be found by the executive committee using the formula and the present costs of each factor in the formula.

The formula has been worked out by Professor G. F. Warren of the College of Agriculture at Ithaca from the great mass of evidence on the cost of milk production which has been collected in the last few years. The directors voted to ask the dealers for a six months' contract beginning with October 1st but the prices will be determined from month to month by use of the Warren formula.

Another very important resolution passed by the league directors was that of changing the zone where the base price of milk is set from 150 miles from New York city as it now is to 250 miles from New York city.

One of the most important resolutions adopted by the directors was to vote back money to local branches for expenses. Every branch will receive 30 cents for every member that is paying his 1 cent per hundred league dues. This rule will cause much satisfaction and will put new life into local branches.

A more united successful or important meeting of the league directors was never held.

OUT WITH ROBBIE HENS.

Poultry Culling Demonstrations in Ulster County Sept. 23-27.

The Ulster County Farm Bureau has made arrangements to have Mr. Ogle, a poultry specialist from the State College of Agriculture, conduct poultry culling demonstrations in Ulster county from September 23 to 27th inclusive. These demonstrations are for the purpose of pointing out the best characteristics to be considered in culling poor laying fowls from the good layers. At this time when feed and labor costs are so exceptionally high, it is very important that all non-productive fowls be culled from the flocks. In many flocks in the county birds that are laying regularly have to carry along the non-productive and then the flock as a whole fails to show a profit. Careful culling is the easiest method to make the flock show a balance on the right side.

The demonstrations will be held at the following places: September 23, 2 p. m., at Henry Devoe's. Accord: September 24th, 10 a. m., Frank Van Stryke's, New Paltz; September 24th, 2 p. m., F. G. Schoonmaker's, Wallkill; locally New Hurley; September 25th, 10 a. m., Robert Harder's, Mt. Marion; September 25th, 2 p. m., L. T. Allen West Shokan; September 25th, 6 p. m., N. C. Van Eiten, Lucas avenue, Kingston; September 26th, 10 a. m., Mrs. M. C. Van Winkle, Stone Ridge; September 26th, 2 p. m., Leslie Moore, Ellenville; September 27th, 10 a. m., C. J. Hepworth, Mt. Vernon; September 27th, 3 p. m., William Doberst, Clintondale, N. Y.

SERBS WINNING BACK COUNTRY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 20.—(3:46 p. m.)
The Bulgarians on the Balkan front are in flight over a front of seventy miles and have evacuated their positions all the way from Monastir to the Vardar river. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.
Serbia troops, under command of the Serbian crown prince, are winning back their native land and already the new Allied positions are thirty miles in advance of the old ones.
Cavalry is pushing beyond Polosko.
The Bulgars are retreating in the wildest disorder. The Allied offensive is constantly widening.
There is heavy artillery firing on the sectors held by the Italians and French and in the vicinity of Monastir (which the Allies hold).
The British and Greeks are now expected to push forward on the right wing.
The Serbians alone captured 5,000 prisoners and sixty guns.

INFLUENZA SPREAD RAPID IN WEST

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Great Lakes, Ill., Sept. 20.—The Great Lakes naval training station is virtually under a complete quarantine today, affecting the 50,000 jackies here, in an effort to prevent the spread of Spanish influenza, a wave of which is sweeping the north shore of Lake Michigan.
Health departments of the northern suburbs of Chicago are co-operating with the health officials of that city in an effort to prevent the disease, which has been spreading southward from here, from getting a foothold in Chicago.

DR. GILLET'S CAR.

It Ran Away Down City Hall Hill and Was Wrecked.

Today at noon Dr. J. R. Gillett drove his trusty auto up to the city hall and left it standing in the driveway while he went into the board of health office. When he went to look for his car he found it missing. In some way the car had started off on its own accord and ran down the hill, crashing into the stone wall and a telegraph pole near the water board barn. The car was badly wrecked.

Wilson Votes Tuesday.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 20.—President Wilson will cast his vote in the primaries at Princeton, N. J., next Tuesday. It was announced at the White House today. He will leave Washington early Tuesday morning and will return that evening. He will make no speeches during his absence, it was stated.

THROUGH WILDS OF AFRICA

Plenty of Excitement in Motorcar Trip Recently Undertaken by Lover of Adventure.

To travel 1,800 miles overland in a motorcar through the wilds of South Africa without a mishap is considered a remarkable accomplishment, according to a story in African Motor of Johannesburg.

In this article R. Asher of Port Elizabeth tells of a successful trip. "The roads in this country are notoriously bad, which makes the feat performed by the car the more striking," says Mr. Asher.

The journey took him through Grahamstown, City of the Saints, Fort Beaufort and through Bedford, a typical inland city, and many of the larger settlements.

In spite of rainstorms and almost impassable roads no difficulty was experienced throughout the whole trip aside from the trouble. Some portions of the journey were made at the rate of 37 miles per imperial gallon of gasoline.

Parts of the journey through Moutse pass and Kynsna hills had to be negotiated in second speed, yet through all of this mountainous travel the remarkable feature was the coolness of the motor. Mr. Asher reported that no water was put in the radiator from Oudtshoorn to Port Elizabeth, which are at opposite sides of this billy country.

Describing parts of the trip and commenting upon the appalling road conditions in places, Mr. Asher says that after plunging and struggling through almost impassable roads, a river was encountered which had to be forded. It was necessary to take the plunge with the car into a swift torrent, so deep that he could not open the car door. The radiator was partly submerged, but the car plowed through successfully.

THE CAPTURE

By ANNA E. SHERRY

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I hate school teaching—and—and farmers!"

Such was the verdict pronounced by blue-eyed, dainty little Jessie Thorne from a pile of half-corrected papers one dreary autumn day. There was no answer to the outburst, the forlorn schoolroom but retching the words.

"Yes, I just hate it, hate it, hate it, and I wish I were home!" The last word ended in a dismal wail.

Home! How far away it seemed to a girl but recently removed from its magic circle! It seemed two years instead of two weeks since she had smiled a brave farewell to the group of home faces gathered at the busy station to see her off. Bravely she had blinked away a peculiar mistletoe, and turned an expectant face southward to the little hill town of Graydon, where she was to teach school.

What a glamour had always hung around the professional. How eagerly she had drunk in the words of her instructors, each striving to fill his pupils with his own earnest purpose! So curiously she had devoured every sentence of the pretty schoolteacher meeting her face in some forlorn nook or cranny of the country-side, capturing the heart and hand of the catch of the country.

battle-scarred desks, carved by many a restless youngster. She saw the ugly stove set in the middle of the room, giving the lie to the old adage that

Her Worst Fears Were Realized.

"Where there is smoke there must be fire." Professional enthusiasm, where were you?
She thought of the tousle-headed boys and the wild girls who stared at her daily from the battered seats. Romance, where were you?
"We're going out for a little while tonight," said motherly Mrs. Smith, a few hours later, after a bountiful supper. "The Ladies' Aid is entertaining the Farmers' club and I'm on the refreshment committee. Perhaps you'd like to go? No? Well, good night, she crept to the window, and looking lock the door. If you're lonesome while we're gone you can look over the album or you can play the new phonograph. Anyway, we won't be gone long and you won't be a mite afraid. City girls ain't afraid of anything." And with a motherly pat she disappeared to join her waiting spouse.

Poor Jessie heard the door slam on her and her loneliness. She heard their footsteps dying away down the country road and watched the lantern bobbing grotesquely into the darkness. She longed to rush out and scream that she was afraid—afraid of the dark, of the katydid's repeating their everlasting accusations from the neighboring maples, of everything and anything in this awful loneliness. Then she recalled Mrs. Smith's words: "City girls ain't afraid of anything"—and she knew that such a procedure would be looked upon as nothing short of cowardice.

So she quelled her fears and began a thorough examination of the family album. This novel method of entertainment proved her usefulness for the strange faces smiling stiffly from their frames only increased her misery, so she closed the book and after locking the door, fled to her room and her friendly pillow.

There in the dark she lay, sobbing out all the homesickness of two dreary weeks, when footstep were heard on the gravelled walk under her window, on to the back porch, where the door knob was softly turned. A moment's pause and the footsteps returned and stealthily advanced to the front door. With a prayer of thanksgiving, Jessie remembered that that, too, was locked, except when company appeared. Even more stealthily now were the footsteps that again wound on the walk, and, horror of horrors, passed directly beneath her window. With bated breath she crept to the window, and looking down saw by the dim light of a few stars a pair of legs disappearing over the window ledge directly below.

What would she do? Her first impulse was to scream, but she stifled it in the sound reasoning that only the intruder could hear. She longed to bar-cade the door and leave him to ransack the house to his heart's content. But again came Mrs. Smith's words: "City girls ain't afraid of anything." With a mighty effort she resolved to prove it. But how? Of course he was a burglar, and who ever heard of a burglar unarmed? She searched her brain wildly for an idea. What could she do against such a desperate marauder? Turning in despair her hand brushed something cold and metallic on the dresser. Her curling tresses! The very thing! Many a time had she bewitched the fate that had failed to give her curling locks, but now she uttered a prayer of gratitude for the omission.

Noiselessly she crept out the door, down the creaking stairs that must be tray ever step, through the silent living room, to the door of the dining room, where in the dim rays of a dash-light a broad pair of shoulders bent over the array of silver on the buffet. Her worst fears were realized. On the floor beside him lay a bag, in which all ready were Mrs. Smith's best spoons. From the pocket of his coat protruded a bulky object. Was it a "gun"? She made one determined step forward, a determined hand pressed a cold instrument directly behind his ear, and an even more determined voice commanded: "Hold up your hands!"

With a muffled ejaculation, decidedly masculine, the figure turned, and she had just time to see a pair of surprisingly frank eyes before the flash-light fell and the room was in darkness.

was the next command.

"But," a rather pleasant voice attempted, "it's a—"

"Another word and I'll shoot," was the rude interruption from the mistress of the situation.

The tense silence was immediately broken by hurried footsteps outside, a familiar stamp on the porch and a friendly hand turning the knob. With an admonition to the burglar to move at his peril, Jessie ran to open the door, and with a frightened sob dragged Mr. Smith into the room.

"What's the trouble? Why don't you have a light?" demanded the practical Mr. Smith.

Holding up the lantern he beheld a manly form seated on the floor. "Well, Jim, is this where you are, and they're waiting for them spoons for the last half hour. They sent me back to look for you. Mother said you'd never be able to get into the house, so I just—why, what's the matter, anyhow?" as he caught a peculiar expression on the face of the young man, who had risen, and was looking at a most embarrassed young lady, who seemed undecided whether to flee or laugh.

Good Mr. Smith's voice relieved the strain. "Why, you people have never been introduced, have you? Miss Thorne, this is Mr. Spencer. He's one of our real farmers, and you'll like him first rate. By the way, why don't you come down to the party, Miss Thorne. Jim'll see that you get down all right. I got to look up them spoons."

FOOTBALL AT CAMP DIX

So! Metzger, Y. M. C. A. Man, to Coach Soldier Eleven.

So! Metzger has been engaged by the Camp Dix Athletic association as head football coach there this autumn. The former tutor of the University of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Washington and Jefferson colleges, signed a contract last week which is undoubtedly the oldest in the history of American football. He will receive $1.00 a year for his services, this amount having been subscribed previously to the athletic association by the new coach.

Metzger will do this work in addition to his regular duties as Y. M. C. A. athletic director, which position he has occupied since last January. His Y. M. C. A. endeavors have added tremendously to the life of the camp, and the least of his accomplishments being the introduction of boxing tournaments, which have been the most popular athletic event at the encampment. Equipment for 50 players already has been ordered and the plans for the football season are now in pretty definite shape. Practice will begin early in September. A squad of 25 will be maintained, the men being selected from those who show most promise with their company and regimental elevens. These fifty will fight it out for positions on the Camp team, which will meet some of the strongest aggregations in this part of the country.

CROCODILE TEARS.

Both American fighting and American registration for further fighting have made the formerly contemptuous Germans sit up and take notice. Now that we have transported one and three-quarters millions of men across the Atlantic, now that our soldiers have beaten crack Prussian regiments in a man to man struggle, now that we have registered an additional 13,000,000 men for war, running up the total of our possible manpower to 23,000,000, the Germans not only have revised their estimates but show signs of heart failure and even of tears. Some of these latter, however, are of the crocodile variety. The Kaiser dripped no end of crocodile tears when he stood before the Krupp workers recently. He said he had ever wanted peace and in December, 1916, particularly he had made "a clear and unambiguous offer," yet "jeers, mockery and contempt were the only answer." It is true that he did clearly and unambiguously offer to grant peace if the Allies would consent for him to keep his outlaw grip on everything he had seized by force of arms from a half dozen despoiled nations. It is equally true that the Allies would have been weaklings and near-slaves if they had answered with anything less appropriate than mockery and jeers.

The Kaiser's tears on this occasion, though meant to look real to the weary Germans, were obviously of the sort attributed to the crocodile. Of the same variety are the tears of Von Payer, the German Vice Chancellor. He weeps not merely to be seen of the Germans who need to steel their hearts but for the benefit of all Europe, our own allies included. "All the belligerents of Europe must admit, if they are not blind," says Von Payer in the doleful voice of a prophetic Cassandra, "that the longer the European peoples lacerate each other the more certainly will the historical and paramount position of weakened and impoverished Europe be lost in favor of a cleverer and more calculating people."

Who are these cleverer and more calculating people? Von Payer can not refer to Africans or Asiatics or Latin-Americans. Of whom does he speak but the people of the United States whose whole-hearted devotion, vigorous war, and prodigious preparation for further "force without limit" have taken the Prussian's breath away and scared the average German pretty nearly stiff? Formerly despised America, though only just beginning, is already taking some of their colossal conceit out of the Germans. Hence the Kaiser's crocodile tears and Von Payer's equally insincere effort to frighten and weaken our allies by warning them to beware of a huge, armed and predatory America of the near future. A shrewd enough "psychological offensive" from the German point of view, but it will fail utterly because our allies know that, not being Huns, we are not to be judged by Hun history and character.

REPATRIATION OF THE JEWS.

In a letter to Rabbi Wise, President Wilson has endorsed the Zionist movement, expressing gratification that the British government has formally approved the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people and promised to use its best endeavors to facilitate the achievement of that object, with the understanding that nothing would be done to prejudice the civil and religious rights of non-Jewish people in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in other countries. The President further expressed gratification that the Weizmann commission has been able to lay the foundation of a Hebrew university at Jerusalem. All of this has no doubt greatly pleased the Jewish people throughout the world.

Jews as well as Christians have been deeply interested in the British project of Palestine. The latter steadily going forward, and undoubtedly at smooth the path of the Zionist movement to a large extent. But whether it will lead to the establishment of a successful and permanent Jewish state in Palestine may be regarded as doubtful. The Jewish people of America are an instructive example of the difficulties attending the repatriation of a race with alien blood.

centuries and Jewish repatriation is proposed after two thousand years. Of course the two cases are markedly different in very important particulars, but the chief of the difficulties in the second case as in the first will no doubt be a disinclination on the part of the vast majority to pull up stakes and go to a strange land. All oppressed Jews would be glad to do so if they could, but after this war the Jews are not likely to be oppressed in any country. While the claims of sentiment will be satisfied, most Jews are apt to elect to remain in the lands of their adoption.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"I tell you, young man, we need brains in this business." "I know you do, sir; that is why I am offering you my services."—Baltimore American.

Kindly Man—"Sonny, you'll be a great man some day." Bright Boy—"That's what some one told father when he was a little boy."—Buffalo Express.

Miss Passe (archly)—"How long do you think a man ought to know a girl before proposing?" Intended Victim—"All his life."—Boston Transcript.

"Anybody pay much attention to your speech?" "One person," replied Senator Sorghum. "The stenographer was obliged to get every word of it."—Washington Star.

"We must all try to save something." "Well," said Senator Sorghum, "I have done a little in that direction. I prepared five speeches and threw four and a half of them into the waste basket."—Washington Star.

"You must be crazy, Isabel. I've asked you repeatedly to be economical and yet you go and order the most expensive fur coat in the shop." "Well, I don't mind being economical, but I do object to looking economical."—Life.

Mistaken Identity.

A tall official looking man with a pocketbook in his hand called upon a suburban resident and observed: "I beg pardon, Mr. Jones, but I believe you possess a—ah, yes, a black retriever dog, with a white patch on his breast." "Visions of unpaid dog taxes arose before Mr. Jones, and he said: "Oh, no, dear, no. He is a poor stray brute."

Prevention.

Beaver White, of the war trade board, said in an after-dinner speech: "The Russian idealists who talk of universal peace and disarmament at this stage of the war are courting destruction for their country. Pacifism may have been all right once. Today it reminds me of the mother who wrote to the schoolmaster who wanted to teach his pupils how to swim: 'Please do not teach my boy swimming, as I do not wish him to be drowned.'"

A Valuable Food and Feed Crop. Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Horse beans, because of their quality and high feeding value, should be grown much more extensively in this country, according to Farmers' Bulletin 969, recently published by the United States department of agriculture. Their value, according to the bulletin, has long been known in the old world where from ancient times they have been grown as a vegetable, a forage and green manure crop. In some sections of this country, particularly the Pacific Coast States, the large flat-seeded varieties are produced in home gardens and are used either green, dried or canned as a vegetable much the same as any of the more common beans. Although their use as a stock feed has been limited in the United States, they are considered in some cases to be superior to field peas and other leguminous crops. All varieties of horse beans are winter growing annuals and should be planted in the fall in southern states and in early spring in northern latitudes.

Lost of Accredited Dairy Herds.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—Every dairy herd in the United States that on July 1 had been officially accredited as free from tuberculosis or that had passed successfully one test with a view of certification is listed in a publication just issued by the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture. Copies of the list are available for the use of state and municipal officials and private persons. Certificates of freedom from tuberculosis are soon to be issued by the bureau of animal industry to all the owners of the accredited herds. Certificate No. 1 is to go to the United States soldiers' home in the District of Columbia. The Holstein-Friesian dairy herd at this institution includes 134 registered pure-bred cows and is one of the oldest accredited herds in the United States.

CONGOLEUM

Gold Seal ART-CARPETS. What Are Congoleum Art-Carpets?

Congoleum GOLD-SEAL Art Carpets are a wonderful, new all-over floor-covering. They combine the beauty and warmth of the most artistic carpet designs with the well-known special advantages of Congoleum. They are Sanitary and easy to clean. Low in price—Long-wearing. Hug the floor—Need no fastening.

Attractive Patterns 3 Yards Wide.

The patterns of the new Congoleum Art-Carpets have been created by expert designers who understand the requirements of American homes, and the color-harmonies have been planned to fit almost any decorative scheme. The patterns are printed in twelve rich colors.

The Art-Carpets are 3 yards (108 inches) wide, making possible fewer seams—in many rooms no seam at all.

The water-proof and sanitary surface offers no lurking place for dirt or disease germs. No laborious, dusty sweeping is required—a few swishes with a damp mop makes the entire floor fresh, bright and cheerful.

Congoleum Art-Carpets come in rolls and retail at $1.10 per square yard.

The tremendous success of Congoleum Art-Rugs and Floor Coverings has resulted in extensive imitation. Undoubtedly the wonderful new Congoleum Art-Carpets will be imitated, also, and so we want to tell you in advance how you may be sure you are getting the genuine.

Look for the New Gold Seal

You will find the Congoleum Gold Seal pasted on the face of every two yards of Congoleum Art-Carpets and Floor-Coverings, and in the corner of every Congoleum Art-Rug. When you see this Congoleum Gold Seal you will know that you are getting the genuine. Be sure to look for it, and do not let yourself be argued into buying an imitation.

The Congoleum Gold Seal bears on its face this broad guarantee: "Satisfaction guaranteed or Your Money Will Be Refunded."

Back of this guarantee stands the largest organization in the world devoted exclusively to the manufacture of printed felt-base floor-coverings. A plant that started six years ago in one little building and has been transformed by public appreciation of the merits of Congoleum into a vast industry occupying more than twenty-five acres and more than thirty buildings.

Color-Charts Free

We have prepared, at great expense, beautiful color-charts showing the new Congoleum Art-Carpets in actual colors and patterns, and other charts showing Congoleum (2 yards wide) and Congoleum Art-Rugs.

Send today for one or all of them. From these charts you can pick out just the patterns you want, in a color-tone that will harmonize nicely with your present furnishings. Then carry the chart to your dealer and have him show you the Congoleum Art-Carpets or Floor-Covering spread out so you can see just how it looks on the floor.

Write at once to the office for the chart you wish and you will learn of the many ways to beautify your floors for little money.

CONGOLEUM Gold Seal ART-RUGS

Congoleum Art-Rugs make any room brighter and cheerier. Their soft, harmonious colors are pleasing to the eye. They are really beautiful in spite of their low cost. No fastening needed because the felt base has no tendency to curl or "kick up" at the edges. The surface is hard and smooth and wear-resisting. "The most durable printed floor-covering" fully describes Congoleum.

All Congoleum Products now bear a Gold Seal Guarantee that insures your money back if the service is not satisfactory. Look for the Gold Seal before you buy any printed floor-coverings—especially printed rugs.

We have a large assortment on hand here for every room in the house.

ELMENDORF IS IN QUIET SECTOR

Mrs. Elbert L. Elmendorf of Ed-dyville, has received the following letter from her husband, who is in the army medical region, some distance behind the lines:

On Active Service With the American Expeditionary Force. Sunday p. m., August 4, 1918. My Dear Wife and Baby:

This day finds the Medical Corps for Sanitary Train of Fourth Field Hospital and Fourth Ambulance Company's in a quaint little French village nestled in a valley and we are here for a short rest after continuous service and at the completion of a forced march of all night from 8:30 p. m. until 6:30 a. m. Officers in other companies said, that they never thought the distance which we covered could be done by any troops carrying packs and medical belts in one night. The march was pretty hard but I stood it better than the most of them, but we did not have anything to eat around midnight, but even so with some laid up and sick and yours truly all O. K. outside of being tired why you have quite a vigorous healthy scout of a hubby after all if he is smaller than some of the men in our company, but I have made up my mind to stick through thick and thin and come through healthy anyway for it's quite a long ways off to our glad return but we'll get there yet, and then I'll be back to my loved ones after we have won for our loved ones, country and all the peace of world wide strength.

Was to church this morning and the Medical Corps men filled the church to the doors, even benches in the side aisles and some standing and we were treated with an excellent sermon by the Sanitary Train chaplain and cheerfully welcomed by the French priest.

The church, built in 1727, is of stone and masonry with a huge spire, and the town clock which rings the hours and half hours, while chiming bell forth several times a day to greet and cheer the people and soldiers on. The church is in size about like that of the First Dutch Reformed in Kingston. Inside it is costly finished with decorations and statues of Jesus; the Resurrection; Crucifixion; Entombment and scenes representing miracles performed by Christ.

Our King.
God of love, friends and home.
God of peace, bless us all.
God of love, keep us each
God of light for ever more.
My ending prayer at night when I go to bed.

Our company was the first to enter this village and the first American troops to come in it so we had one of the greatest and heartiest welcomes given by the French people to the Sanitary Train. They threw their homes open to us and welcomed us with open arms. Last night when down to the village a couple of little kiddos trudged along with me. "Won't that be a great joy to return and have Gladys and mother, my little wife, at my side, then if ever come perfect days, may God grant my safe return with our boys when they come marching home."

This is the first place we have been in that we did not have to have our gas masks continually at our sides and we were glad on hearing our captain greet us with words of, "gas masks will not have to be worn while in this area until notified by alarm or further orders."

I am writing you in the quaint old church yard seated in a shaded spot on the south side of the church while I was only disturbed once by a couple of French madams feeding their goats, a couple of kids, young goats on the church yard grass.

This sector is a farming sector and at times relieves me then, again makes me homesick. Oh, for some good old farm products, come fruit, cheese and fresh vegetables, saying nothing about the roast chicken from my dear old home, and better still at my dear old home.

About the only product the farmers here raise is grains, such as wheat, rye and oats although they have some fine Percheron horses and they look to be fed and cared for better than the people, as the French people only are allowed a small amount of bread and the government takes over their crops and allows them only enough to keep their families. Airplanes are not in view regularly and neither do they blow the town to pieces while its people take to shelter in the dug outs.

Knowing about where to locate them I was able to get a few ripe plums over on the south side of a hill and also knowing how to get farm vegetables and fruit, the boys are all willing to go with me and ask where can I get some lettuce or turnips. I have plenty of money, but you have to first gain the friendship of the people and city chaps are awkward in confronting a French farmer. Well, with best of love, over true, loads of kisses, one strong good but a fond good night to Snookums, dear little one and my dear little wife.

Ever lovingly, your Hubby and Daddy.

CLOSE SUPERVISION OF EXPLOSIVES

An Inspector Will Be Along Soon and Possession Without License Is a Serious Offense—Druggists Included.

Albany, Sept. 20.—Because of several reported thefts of dynamite from magazines belonging to contractors and other users of explosives, the Federal Bureau of Explosives and the Bureau of Explosives of the State Industrial Commission are tightening up their close supervision of users and stores of explosives. Under the federal law recently enacted, all users of explosives must procure federal licenses, usually from the county or town clerk in their locality; and manufacturers and dealers in explosives may not sell to those who have no license a serious offense under the federal law and is punishable by prison sentence.

Information is in the hands of the federal inspector of explosives, Edward D. Jackson of Buffalo, that there are many small holders of explosives who use dynamite in blasting stumps or for other domestic use, who have not declared such possession by taking out licenses. Armed with bills of purchase from the manufacturers and dealers, the federal inspector and his assistants will shortly proceed to take inventory of all the explosives held in New York state. Those who try to withhold knowledge of their possession of explosives have only themselves to thank if they incur suspicion of being tainted with pro-Germanism or if they are haled into court and punished.

Inspector Jackson says that in this war crisis and manifest activities of the German agents, it is imperative that the federal government and the state authorities possess accurate knowledge of where every ounce of explosive is held and by whom. His work, he says, will be greatly facilitated if farmers and other small users of dynamite step forward and procure their federal licenses. Moreover, if they do not take out federal licenses, the dealers incur liability of a prison sentence.

Mr. Jackson also calls attention to the fact that druggists who carry constituent ingredients of explosives must take out licenses and are not allowed to sell more than one ounce of such constituent ingredient to any one purchaser and a record must be kept of such sales. This is done so that if a mysterious explosion occurs in a given locality, the government agents may be able to ascertain readily and speedily who in the vicinity has purchased explosives or their constituents.

Dealers and large users of explosives are cautioned that the state law places upon them the duty of storing their supply in safe magazines and of keeping close guard thereupon so as to prevent thefts. Not to do so is adjudged criminal carelessness, and revocation of license is only one of the penalties provided.

FLATBUSH.

Flatbush, Sept. 20.—The Rev. John B. Stokese, our new pastor, is expecting to enter upon his duties here the first week in October.

Chester Davis of Washington, D. C., is spending his vacation with his parents here.

School tax list is out and the collector, C. E. Davis, is receiving them at his home.

Preaching services next Sunday. The Rev. C. H. Polhemus of Port Ewen will preach.

Chester Pearson's new barn is rapidly nearing completion.

Miss Pauline Davis of Washington, D. C., is the guest of her cousin, Miss Emma Davis.

A. H. Hornbeck has returned from Phoenix where he visited his daughter, Mrs. Claude Lasher.

Day school opened last week. Miss Daffler of Salem, N. Y., and Mrs. Myers of this place are teachers.

The piece of roof that blew off the barn on the Griffin estate has been replaced.

Didn't Mean to Fall Next Time.

This story comes from British East Africa. A hunter met a magnificent lion almost face to face. With a terrible roar the beast sprang at the man, but missed his aim by jumping 2 feet too high. Disappointed, it dashed away into the woods. The next day a party set out to track the beast down, and at last came upon it in an open space in the jungle practicing low jumps.

D. N. MATHEWS IS BANK ASS'N. HEAD

Ulster County Bankers Ass'n. Re- sult of Meeting Thursday at Court House—To Secure Benefit of Co-ordinated Effort.

After the adoption of a constitution and by-laws, the 40 or more bankers representing the national, state and savings banks, were formally organized as the Ulster County Bankers Association at the meeting held Thursday afternoon at the court house.

Delaney N. Mathews, of the State of New York National Bank, was temporary chairman and F. J. R. Clarke of the Ulster County National Bank secretary. Edward Coykendall of the First National Bank of this city nominated as officers the following, who were duly elected: President, Delaney N. Mathews, vice-president, John A. Snyder, Sargent National Bank; secretary, F. J. R. Clarke; treasurer, Jacob E. Derienbacher, Rondout Savings Bank; executive committee, the president and vice-president, Edward Coykendall, Kingston; Cornelius L. Van Orden, New Paltz; Harcourt J. Pratt, Highland; M. E. Clark, Ellenville; J. F. Wyant, Marlborough.

The constitution as adopted states the name of the association shall be Ulster County Bankers' Association, the association to consist of banks of Ulster county, that shall qualify as such. Each member may be represented at all meetings thereof by one or more of its officers, directors or trustees and shall be entitled to one vote. The object of the association shall be to promote the general welfare and usefulness of banks, the practical benefits to be derived from personal acquaintance and from discussion of subjects of importance to the banking and commercial interests of the county of Ulster, and especially in order to secure the proper consideration of questions regarding the financial and commercial usages, customs and laws which affect the banking interests of the county of Ulster, and to make rules and by-laws to govern the association. The annual meeting shall be held on the third Thursday of September each year at a place to be designated by the executive committee. The officers shall consist of a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and an executive committee consisting of the president, vice-president and seven members, all to be elected by ballot at the annual meeting and the president shall appoint a committee of five 30 days before the annual meeting for the purpose of nominating the officers to be elected notice of nominations to be sent to members at least ten days before the election.

The by-laws fix the annual dues at $10, payable annually in advance on the first day of March each year.

Mayor Canfield delivered an address of welcome in which he reviewed the history of banking most interestingly. The mayor introduced Ralph T. Crane of the Federal Reserve Bank, who was listened to attentively by the banking men. He spoke of the good work done by the banks of Ulster county during the war going over 120 per cent. When the United States treasury department announced that it would require $6,000,000,000 to finance this war by us, it seemed to me such a large amount of credit, that it did not seem possible that we could do it. But when the quotas—I do not like that word—I prefer to call it measure allotted were so much oversubscribed I changed my opinion. Your banks have not alone taken your share, but also that of others who could not do so, and I am confident that you will do as well, in issues to come. I understand there are to be eight all told. Your financing of the government loans, to my mind, could be called a "merry-go-round" of credit if you will, for it goes from you to the farmer, the merchant and what not, and finally comes back to you, for the benefit and disposition of the federal government.

We find that we can supply the government with the credit it needs, and still do business, and after it is all over, we find that the deposits of our institutions at the end, remain about what they were when you started, very little difference—if any. This splendid condition of affairs has been made possible by the system of the federal reserve bank, a machine, the greatest of its kind in the world. What we must do is to conserve our credits—turn over credits as much as we can, and not make any more new extensions than we possibly can.

We should endeavor to confine our investments as banks, to short time obligations, and to not make any more investments in long time securities, so as to preserve our assets in a liquid form. Our banks must be liquid, and must be kept so, and not be congested and rendered unavailable by long time investments hard to liquidate in case of immediate necessity. Those banks who are heavily invested in long time bonds, cannot be liquid, and consequently are under a hardship just now.

I believe that the bankers of this country are just as important towards the winning of the war as the boys who have had to "over there" and fight. The chief function of the banks and banking interests of the country is that of short time financing, arranging the funds to buy food stuffs, ammunition, etc. In the 47 counties of New York state, I am glad to state that the banks of Ulster county occupy the sixth place in order of accomplishment, and I am quite sure you will remain so, or do better.

County Judge Jenkins closed the meeting with a short address, having been called on to speak. He called attention to the lack of co-operation among banking institutions, and suggested that there was a desirability of some co-operation of the kind by the associated banks of the county to guard against over-extension of credit. A method is desirable to prevent the obtaining of larger loans by merchants or others from other banking institutions who under the present conditions existing are unable to ascertain that the

MUHLON'S LETTER OF REPUDIATION

In Which Former Krupp Official Who Had Knowledge Of War's Origin And Conduct Turns His Back On Germany's Leaders.

In a letter written May 7, 1917, to Herr Von Bethmann-Hollweg, then German Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Muhlon repudiates the leaders of the German government and condemns their policy of offering peace with no terms attached and their ruthless methods of waging warfare. Dr. Muhlon, who was at the start of the war a director of the great Krupp gun works and in the confidence of high German officials, in a memorandum now exposes the plot which precipitated the world conflict.

Dr. Muhlon severed his connection with the Krupps shortly after the opening of hostilities and subsequently took up his residence in Switzerland.

His letter, translated from a French newspaper version, follows:

Your Excellency, However numerous and crass the errors and faults committed by Germany since the war began, I have none the less long persisted in the belief that our leaders would eventually show themselves possessed of a belated foresight. It was in this hope that I put myself to a certain extent at your service to collaborate with you in Roumania, and that I informed you I was ready to help you in the country in which I am living at present (Switzerland). If my aim was to be the bringing to the gathering of the parties at war. That I was and still am opposed to any work other than that of reconciliation tion and restoration I proved, shortly after hostilities opened, by resigning once and for all from the directorate of Krupp's works.

But since the first days of 1917 I have abandoned all hope as regards the present leaders of Germany. Our offer of peace with no indication of our war aims, the unrestricted submarine war, the deportations from Belgium, the systematic destruction in France, the torpedoing of English hospital ships have so discredited the government of the (German) Empire, that I am profoundly convinced that they are for ever disqualified for the task of elaborating and concluding a just and sincere international agreement. They may change their personal views, but they cannot remain the representatives of the German cause.

The German people will only be able to atone for the grievous sins committed against its own present and future, against that of Europe and all mankind, when it is represented by other men with a different type of mind. To tell the truth, it is only just that its reputation should throughout the entire world should be as bad as it is. The triumph of its methods—the military and political methods by which it has conducted the war up till now—would mean the defeat of the highest ideals and hopes of humanity. We have only to picture to ourselves a nation exhausted, demoralized, or sick of violence consenting to make peace with a government which has waged such a war in order to realize how gloomy and uncertain in that case would remain the path and prospects of mankind.

As a man and as a German, who desires nothing but the welfare of the sorely tried and deceived German people, I turn my back for good and all on the present representatives of the German government. And my one desire is that all our aims be to be the bringing to the gathering of the parties at war. That I was and still am opposed to any work other than that of reconciliation considered it to be my strict duty to inform your Excellency of my point of view.

W. MUHLON.

Will War Ever Cease?

At the popular service in the St. James Methodist Church on Sunday night the pastor, Dr. Buragwanath, will try to answer the above question. We are concerned not only about the present, but also the future of the world. According to the teachings of the Bible a time will come when nations "will learn war no more." Is this a false hope to entertain in this hour of the world's struggle? The discussion of the question will be fair and frank, and the practical difficulties in the way will be pointed out.

Partridge Season Shortened.

As provided by section 152 of the Conservation Law, the Conservation Commission has shortened the season on partridge. The season as now fixed by law will be from October 1 to October 31, both inclusive, the limit for one person in one day is two (2) and not more than ten (10) for the season.

Subdivision 2 of section 214 should be disregarded as the action taken by the Conservation Commission under section 152 amends subdivision 2 of section 214.

Open Season For Paddlers.

This is the time of the year when the man, who believes that by carrying a houseboat in his pocket rheumatism can be averted, picks up a new one that he has seen fall from a tree and discards the old one which he has been carrying with the greatest faith for a year in his trousers' pocket.

LAND ARMY BOOTHS TO OPEN MONDAY

The big drive to secure members for the Land Army is now under way and Monday morning, and each successive morning during that week, the booths will be open to secure memberships and subscriptions. The booths will be located in the up and down town post offices, Rose, Gorman & Rose's store, and the store of Forsyth & Davis.

SCOUTS AT FORSYTH.

Names of Those Who Will Receive Medals for Service.

The Boy Scouts are to have a part in the celebration at Forsyth Park tomorrow afternoon. The Scouts will meet at headquarters on Broadway at 2 o'clock and march, headed by their fine drum corps, to Forsyth Park. Here they will set up a first aid tent, and will entertain the early comers to the park with Scout games and activities until 4 o'clock. Between 4 and 5 o'clock the boys who won medals during the last Liberty loan drive will be awarded those medals by Edward Hungerford, now of this city, and in the government service. The Scouts to receive medals are:

Troop 1—Joe Forman, Harry Schryver, Charles Hayes.
Troop 4—John Connelly.
Troop 5—Jack DeWitt, Vernon Beehler, David Richtmyer, Westbrook Stelle, Randal Rose, Stanley Trov, Reynolds Carr.
Troop 6—C. Cutler, C. B. Eckert, Reginald J. Every, DuVall Howard, Edmond J. Mahar, Harold Hicks, George Matthews, Francis Van Houten, Edward W. Leverett.

"Flo Flo" Here Monday Night.

Every chorus is synonymous with patriotism but not every one can boast that each of its members is a "perfect 36" as can the beauty battalion which will accompany "Flo Flo," John Cort's New York musical comedy hit at the Kingston Opera House Monday night.

A Good Show Last Night.

A good sized audience enjoyed the three act comedy, "Business Before Pleasure," at the opera house last night. As usual, Abe Potash and Maxruss Perlmutter were amusing and created much laughter.

To Retain Friends.

To retain friends of the right sort means that one must prove a friend of similar caliber. But on the other hand, if a girl or woman is influenced only by display (which at best is an empty, shallow affair) she cannot hope to hold the sincere regard of persons who in truth are worth while. The really level headed girl will cling fast to the honest friends of other less palmy days—perhaps to the friends who make no display but who are sterling through and through.—Exchange.

Bully for Bill.

There was a city lady visiting some relatives in the country and as she was walking down the lane she saw some calves. Thinking to display her knowledge, she remarked: "Oh what pretty little cowlets." Bill, the farm boy, came up about that time, heard her remarks, and said: "Excuse me, miss, but them's bullets."—Boys' Life.

TYPEFIES SPIRIT OF FRANCE

Brave Thirteen-Year-Old Girl, With Two Small Brothers, Doing All the Work on Farm.

When the work in your war garden seems tedious and you straighten your aching back and look longingly toward the inviting shade of the trees or toward the arm chair on the awning-covered porch; when you mutter to yourself that it will not matter much whether the weeds do choke the beet patch—it may help you to finish your task if you call to mind a story told in "My War Diary" by Mrs. Mary King Waddington.

In a village near ours, says the author, a girl of thirteen is running the farm. At the beginning of the war it was a thriving farm with a man and his wife, six sons and one daughter. Then the blow fell, and all the men in France were mobilized; the father and his two eldest sons went off at once—four hours after the decree of mobilization was received in the village. The farmer had no time to put his house in order, but left the farm in the hands of his wife and the two big boys, aged fifteen and sixteen. The man and his two eldest sons are now dead; the two next are in the army, and the poor mother, a wreck physically and mentally, cries all day. The girl and the two little boys do the whole work of the farm. The youngest, who is only ten years old, cannot accomplish much, but he does manage to watch the cows and to carry cans of milk or baskets of butter.

I see the girl sometimes; she is perfectly well, never complains and never asks for anything—except occasionally for a warm petticoat, or a hood to keep her head and neck warm and dry when she is working in the fields. There are hundreds of girls doing that work all over France.—Youth's Companion.

AS HAVE OTHER HUN THINGS

Man Complains That His German-Made Clock Has Completely Gone to the Bad.

My old alarm clock has gone to smash. That may not be a news item nor it may not interest you, but up at our home the fact that the alarm clock wouldn't go any more was an event of interest. It was ticking away on the shelf at a quarter to 11 the night of July 17. I took it up to wind it. One twist, and—tattletatt, sis boom ah. Something went all to pieces in the works.

More twists, shaking, putting the clock to ear and final determination that it was done for. I thought to look it over before depositing it in the ash can. On the back was scratched the month and day of the purchase in 1912. I was looking on the face for the last time and studying it closely. Then down at the bottom I saw in small letters: "Made in Germany." There it had been ticking away on the shelf year after year, sounding its alarm regularly, and yet never before had I noticed that detested inscription. Probably if I had it would have gone into the ash can long before.

Just like a lot of other "Made in Germany" things that we didn't know were around until we found them out. But the old German clock is bowed, the works have gone to smash. It has sounded the last alarm, and as I meditated on it I thought how true of everything else "Made in Germany," including the judgement war machine, 40 years in the making, with which the Kaiser was to ride untrammelled over all the rest of the world. The works "is bowed."—E. H. K., in Syracuse Post-Standard.

SEEMS GOOD BUSINESS IDEA

Proposed Commercial Register for Holland Has Powerful Support in Industrial Circles.

A law to establish a commercial register in Holland has been introduced in the states general, according to a dispatch from P. L. Edwards, commercial attaché of The Hague. It is reported to have the support of members of the government, of high legal circles and of important business interests generally. This is said to be the culmination of a movement started 20 years ago for the passage of such a law.

One of the most important features of the proposed law is that it forbids the use of precisely the same name by more than one concern within given districts, it also provides that in each given district there shall be maintained a public register in which would be given the name, age and domicile of each member of a firm, as well as the extent to which each one might be held legally liable for its obligations. It also would make illegal the use of a deceptive title, including such words, for instance, as "brothers," "and company," or "and sons," where the owner is only one person.

From the proposed commercial register a stranger would be able to ascertain the name and residence of holders of not fully paid up shares, and the full particulars as to the nationality, residence, etc., of managers, directors and other officers of corporations and associations. There would also be particulars as to former bankruptcies of persons or concerns in question. The present law already provides for publication of many of these details, but they are only to be found in such scattered places that in practice they are not available to the general public.

World's Coal Areas.

A good authority gives the coal area of the world in square miles as follows: United States, 102,000; British America, 18,000; Great Britain, 12,000; Spain, 4,000; France, 2,000; Germany, 1,800; Belgium, 518; rest of Europe, 100,000; China, 2,000; Japan, 5,000. Coal is found in commercial quantities in 27 of the states and territories of the United States and Alaska.

Marmoset's Rival.

Mrs. Ellen Walker of Philadelphia keeps as her mascot a land turtle which she has had for twenty-five years, since it first wandered into the yard of her home. The turtle is carried with her on all her travels in a basket made for the purpose. During the summer it spends its time in the garden at the Walker home. In the winter it is kept in the basement.

TO ORGANIZE FOR UNITED WAR WORK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 20.—
Stephen B. Groner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and New York state campaign director for the United War Work campaign, announced today that Governor Whitman will speak Monday evening, September 23, at the first dinner of the campaign workers to be held at the Onondaga Hotel, Syracuse, following a conference there. It is expected at this conference and dinner to complete the organization for the drive during the week of November 11 for $170,000,000 to be distributed among seven organizations doing work for the soldiers and sailors. These include the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Jewish Welfare Board, the Salvation Army, the American Library Association and the War Work Community service.

The Program.

Morning session, 10 o'clock, Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.
Afternoon session, 2 o'clock, Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.
$1 dinner at Onondaga Hotel ball room at 6:30 p. m.
Program for morning session.
Presentation of plans to organize cities and counties of the state, participated in by S. B. Groner and R. K. Thompson.
Speakers' Bureau to be addressed by W. K. Cooper, Washington, D. C.
Program for afternoon session.
All addresses by representatives of the co-operating organizations, as follows:
American Library Association, J. N. Wyer, Jr., State Library, Albany, N. Y.
Jewish Welfare Board, Dr. Horace J. Wolfe, Rochester.
Salvation Army Col. W. A. McIntyre, New York.
War Camp Community Service, Orlando Lewis, New York.
Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Wm. Adams Brown, New York.
Y. M. C. A. F. W. Pearsall, New York city.
$1 dinner, Onondaga ball room at 6:30 p. m.
Address by Bishop Thomas F. Hickey, Rochester representing National Catholic War Council.
Closing address by Gov. Charles S. Whitman.

SOCIETY NOTES

Prof. Clide Van Steenberg's dancing class and assembly opens for the season at Pythian Hall October 3. Steve Miller's orchestra.

No Twaitskill Reception Saturday.
In view of the visit of the Ulster County Society to Kingston, the governors of the Twaitskill Club have decided not to hold the usual Saturday afternoon reception at the Club House.

Myer-Harder

At the home of the bride in Runy, Wednesday afternoon, the marriage of Miss Ella Harder daughter of the late Arthur L. Harder and Warren Myer, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Myer of Mt. Marion, was solemnized. Only the immediate relatives were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Dickens of the Mt. Marion Reformed Church. The bride was attired in a gown of white and carried white roses. She was attended by her classmate, Miss Marguerite Sheehan of New York city. The groomsmen were Arthur L. Harder, brother of the bride. After the wedding breakfast, the newly weds left for a brief tour in automobile. A number of beautiful gifts were received. The bride is a graduate of the Sangre high school and was salutatorian of her class. Both she and her husband are estimable young people and will carry through their wedded life, the hearty well wishes of numerous friends.

Mustard Gas Invented Here.

The report that an American inventor had before an agent of the bureau of mines 15 months ago a formula for mustard gas, which the Germans are now supposed to be using, is taken up by the American Inventors' association. The association brought to the attention of the association at its meeting the other day was to the effect that Benjamin F. Brooks, chief chemist of the Commercial Research company of Elmhurst, L. I., gave a formula to the government bureau and heard nothing more from it. A few months ago it was found Germany had hit upon the gas, according to T. J. Hennen president of the association.—Washington Star.

Fewer Japanese Silks.

Just as we had learned to value Japanese silks and crepes and so on, especially as substitutes in these times of shortage of so many materials, we hear that certain ships, engaged in the Eastern trade, and that brought us these serviceable and charming materials, have been loaned to the imperial government, and that has created a scarcity in transportation facilities. So georgettes, crepe de chine, and so on, are added to the list of growing scarcities and advancing prices. Added to this, little silk is coming from the French and Italian markets.

Her Record Still Still.

A certain family has a colored servant who, while very attentive to her duties, has never been known to give anything a civil answer. Finally an experiment, the lady of the house brought her a new calico dress, and gave it to her, saying:
"I am glad to have the pleasure of giving you this dress."
"You must have had that dress long ago," said the colored woman, "for I have seen it in the window of the Chicago News."

HOOVER THANKS COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATORS

In a telegram to the Federal Food Board, Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, with characteristic fairness, expresses high appreciation of the work done by the county food administrators in New York State. The telegram follows:

I wish you would express to each county food administrator in your state the great appreciation we all have for the fine service they have given to our common task. I was particularly struck by the repeated expressions during our recent conference (Mr. Hoover conferred with the State Food Administrators in Washington) upon our county administrators for that "We can and must depend upon our county administrators for that" or "Our county administrators have done this or that." All these expressions recalled to me the relation of the army staff to the men on the firing line and I wish you would take opportunity to thank them in my name for their great service to their country and her people at home.

John Mitchell, chairman of the Federal Food Board, and Charles E. Treman, federal food administrator for New York State outside of Greater New York, Westchester and Long Island, and Arthur Williams, federal food administrator for the metropolitan district, take this opportunity to join with Mr. Hoover in thanking the county administrators for the splendid spirit of cooperation they have shown in helping to carry out the program of the U. S. Food Administration in this state.

EIGHTEEN TO FORTY-FIVE.

The selective draft calling men between the ages of 18 and 45 has a special meaning to the workers in the food trenches. Many of the men engaged in the least important work of the food industry—men who can be replaced—may be taken and the tasks they performed must be shouldered by those who remain behind. It will be difficult to get workers to take all their places, and this means that those who by age, physical unfitness or other disqualifications are not called must put their shoulders to the wheel with renewed and greater energy and work harder than ever. This is not a time to be content with simply doing our share—we must do more than that—work harder, produce more, save more, sacrifice more—that those who are fighting for us—our own sons and brothers and our allies—may realize that we are tirelessly backing up their efforts. So let us tell up our sleeves and pitch in, resolving to do better and harder work than we ever helped to bring nearer that glorious day when the Forces of Evil which have shaken the world shall be crushed forever and Liberty and Democracy shall triumph and Peace reign again.

Postpone Operation of New Rules Regarding Adulterated Feedstuffs

The State Food Commission announced a postponement of the date on which the new rules requiring the tagging of adulterated feedstuffs be come effective. At the request of representatives of national and state food manufacturers' associations a hearing will be held before the State Food Commission at Albany on October 8. The new rules, which were to go into operation September 16, have been suspended pending this hearing. Since the adoption of these rules by the State Food Commission at its meeting on August 16 last, the importance of some measure to prevent the adulteration of feedstuffs has been brought to the attention of Congress by Senator Gore of Oklahoma. Senator Gore has introduced an amendment to the agricultural law to prevent the adulteration of feedstuffs, which embodies the essential principles in the rules and regulations adopted by the Commission in this state. The policy of the Commission has always been that any rules adopted by it shall be in entire conformity with kindred legislation enacted by the Federal Government. Resolutions Adopted.
A resolution adopted by the Commission suspending temporarily the operation of the new rules follows:
"WHEREAS: At a meeting of the New York State Food Commission held at Syracuse, N. Y., on Sept. 10, 1918, representatives of national and state food manufacturers' associations appeared before the Commission asking that the new rules requiring the tagging of adulterated feedstuffs be postponed until after the hearing on October 8, 1918."

STILL LIMIT PORTIONS OF WHEAT BREAD SERVED IN PUBLIC EATING PLACES

Hotels, restaurants and boarding houses are still limited as to the quantity of wheat bread to be served with meals.
"While 'wheatless days' and 'wheatless meals' have been abolished under the new wheat conservation program the rule requiring public eating places to limit the size of the portion of wheat bread or wheat rolls served with a meal is still in force," says a statement issued by the Federal Food Board. "The rule limiting to two ounces the total quantity of wheat products which may be served at any meal, however, has been rescinded."

FARMERS ARE URGED TO SELECT SEED CORN NOW

Farmers of New York State are urged to select their seed corn now. Get an abundance of seed corn for a second planting if necessary—after ripening time when the best quality is plentiful. Seed corn from the most productive stalks and care for each bushel kernel until a planting time.

THIS DISH WILL PLEASE FATHER AND THE BOYS

The Food Administration urges housewives to re-instate cheese as a staple food in the home and to use it frequently in place of meat. Cheese is so rich in protein that two ounces of the ordinary variety, commonly known as "store" cheese, furnish all the protein necessary for a balanced meal. One cubic inch of cheese contains as much protein as 1 1/4 ounces of chopped beef, one egg or one cup of milk. Cheese keeps much better in hot weather than meat. It is an especially good food to serve just now because it comes most aptly with the coarse "war bread" and makes better sandwiches and less delicious cheese dishes than when combined with white bread. Here is a delicious cheese recipe which will make a big hit with father and the boys.

These Souffle—Two tablespoons of butter, 1/2 tablespoon of corn meal, 1 cup scalded milk, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, 1 cup grated American cheese, 1/2 cup of sugar, 1/2 cup of flour, dash of nutmeg. Mix the fat, dash and corn meal and melt gradually and add the scalded milk, then salt, nutmeg and cheese. Remove from fire, add a pinch of corn meal, cool mixture, then cut and add 1/2 cup of cold water until stiff and dry. Pour into an oiled baking dish, bake 20 minutes to allow oven and serve at once.

Rice in United States.

There are five varieties of rice grown in the United States. The so-called Japanese varieties are planted almost exclusively in California, a kind known as the "Wabash" being the one principally grown.

BEGINS BIG DRIVE FOR MILLION MEMBERS

State Land Army Seeks Support for 200 Camps.

FOR WOMEN FARM LABORERS.

Canvassing State in Six Districts in Effort to Help Solve Food Problem—Campaign Ends Sept. 28.

New York—The drive for one million supporting members for the New York State Land Army is on its way and going at full speed. Never did a grand assault led by armored tanks. Over there start after more careful, systematic planning or proceeded more resolutely. Nor, it is safe to say, has any civilian war drive up to date had a more direct bearing on the ultimate winning of the war.

For the success of this Land Army drive means assurance to the farmers of the state that they may plant every tillable acre of their land next spring, confident of an abundant supply of labor to till, cultivate and harvest them. The success of the Allied Armies, it is pointed out, depends on an abundant food supply. The farms of America must furnish the major part of it. The women of America must do the labor that alone can make it possible. The present Land Army Drive is to enable the women of this state to carry out their part of that programme.

Must Have Supporting Members.

It must be remembered, however, that this drive for supporting members does not mean a campaign to obtain young women farm laborers. Many of these are available as fast as camps can be supplied for them. A supporting member is a moral and financial backer. Any man, woman or child in the state is eligible, and the Army organizers, should be really interested in the success of the Land Army drive in considerable degree the amount of food we will have to eat a year from now.

Membership in the Army places no great burden on the individual. For one dollar a year one becomes a member, for $5.00 a Planter for $25.00, a Grower, and for $100.00, a Harvester. To carry out its plans for next year the Army needs a million of these members. The more Growers and Harvesters the better, but every Planter and Harvester counts and counts hard. The plans of the Army include establishing 200 camps in the state for the coming year. To do this means raising a fund of $600,000. This covers the cost of securing and equipping camps, providing work clothes for the girls and auto-trucks to carry them to and from their work. Once established the camps become self-supporting. The farmers pay the camps $2.00 a day for eight hours' work by each girl. The fund thus available covers the camp's current overhead expense and pays each girl $15.00 a month and maintenance.

No Longer an Experiment.

This system has been practically worked out during the present season by forty Land Army camps scattered throughout the state. The evidence of the success of the system was presented at the Land Army Convention in Albany, August 20 and 21, and plans were immediately gotten under way for the membership drive.

The state campaign organization consists of a General Committee and Executive Committee, headed by Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, wife of Governor Whitman, as Honorary Chairman, with F. H. Bethell, first Vice-president of the New York Telephone Co., as active Chairman and Mrs. Otto R. Eichel, Chairman of Field Organization. Campaign headquarters have been opened at the Hotel Biltmore, New York City. For intensive work the state has been divided into six districts—Metropolitan, Hudson, Adirondack, Mohawk, Central Lakes and Erie. The work in each district is under the direction of a district chairman, working through a County Committee in each county.

An active preliminary campaign has been carried on at the county fairs during the last ten days, with speakers and exhibits of Land Army work. The speakers at these fairs are Mrs. M. H. Ashton, Mrs. F. A. Young, Miss Ruth Miner and Miss Sophia Carey. This phase of the work will continue during the drive wherever fairs are held. The response to these preliminary efforts has been so encouraging that the workers are starting on the main drive with high hopes of success.

POULTRY FACTS

BUILD STANDARD EGG CASES

Railroad Classification Requirements Outlined—Make Compartments of Same Size.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Do you know the railroad classification requirements for a standard egg case? If not, you should; so here they are:

Standard Egg Case—3-16 inch veneers; 7-16 inch ends and centers; 7-16 by 1 1/2 inch cleats; 7-16 inch center board must be nailed in middle of case.

Right Way to Arrange Strawboard, Excelsior, Cork Shavings or Cut Straw for Filling.

The two compartments must be of the same size.

Filling—Hard calendered strawboard. Set to consist of ten trays and 12 cleats.

Stack top of case with corrugated cushion, excelsior, cork shavings, or cut straw.

Stack bottom of case with corrugated cushion, 1/2 inch cushion fillers, excelsior, cork shavings, or cut straw.

slor, cork shavings, or cut straw. Use flat between eggs, both top and bottom.

Excelsior, cork shavings or cut straw cushions must be smooth and of uniform thickness.

Filling must weigh three pounds for ten trays and 12 flats.

Nails—Third cement-coated, large head.

Fifteen nails for each side—five in each end; five in center.

Fifteen nails for bottom—five in each end; five in center.

Eight nails for top—flush cleat.

Two nails for top—drop cleat.

Two nails through cleat into each place of end.

Nails through cleats must be clinched.

SELECTION OF POULTRY FEED

Reduce Cost by Using Low-Priced Substitute Grains—Oats Are Cheaper Than Corn.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

While farmers, as a rule, have fed their poultry the grain that was cheapest on the farm, many poultry specialists have been accustomed to use their favorite poultry feeds without considering either the quality of the supply or the possibilities of using cheaper substitutes.

Under normal conditions, corn is nearly all parts of the United States is the cheapest poultry feed. At the present time, oats are nearly everywhere cheaper than corn. When corn goes down to $1.50 a bushel, oats should be 75 cents and barley $1.20 a bushel to give the same value for the money fed to poultry, as corn.

The common characters and conditions of grain which roughly determine their values as poultry feeds are easily estimated by the eye, or by weight or bulk in measure or containers of known capacity.
